

The Cash Flow Exchange

cflox is the global market for cash flow, trade finance, and Working Capital within the supply chain. On cflow, buyers and suppliers collaborate to optimize the financing of goods and services – digital, lean, and secure.

Senior Backend Developer (m/f/d)

As Senior Backend Developer, you will help us scale our market platform to support business growth and to expand our product portfolio with more financing solutions. You will work closely with a Product Owner and an agile, cross-functional team ready for innovation and new approaches to software development. We offer a challenging and interesting work environment with a high degree of responsibility and an opportunity to work on green-field projects in finance as well as on side projects.

cflox is an internationally certified payment institute that enhances corporate payments with working-capital optimization, financing, and lean processing. We develop technology-driven, unique solutions for our customers that provide instant added value. Our clients include large, international corporations from various industries, which we support with our diverse and growing team in Hamburg and Madrid.

Skills we look for

- 3+ years of professional experience
- Passion for emerging (web) technologies
- Solid understanding of software paradigms and design principles (OOP/FP, MVC, Dependency injection, Messaging)
- Broad experience with Java frameworks such as Spring, Hibernate
- Experience designing relational databases, practical experience with MySQL/PostgreSQL
- Strong testing habits (JUnit, Mockito, etc.)

Extra credit for

- A degree in Computer Science or a related field
- Experience with JS/TypeScript using React
- Experience working with ERP systems, SAP FICO
- Experience working in a regulated environment
- Experience with DevOps, process automation, and containerization
- Experience scaling web applications and databases
- Knowledge of financial markets, auctions, and corporate finance

What we offer

- A permanent contract and an attractive salary
- Flexible working hours
- HVV ticket
- Agile collaboration, great colleagues, and a number of virtual and in-person team events to get to know them

To find out more about us, visit cflox.com. We are looking forward to your application! There is no form, just email it to recruiting@cflox.com!